

BEST PRACTICES ON WEBSITE

1. Scholarships to Needy Students Facing Gender Bias

Objective:

This practice aims to address gender inequality by providing financial aid to female students facing societal barriers like illiteracy, financial constraints, and negative parental attitudes.

Context:

Challenges include higher dowry demands, prioritization of women's virginity, and limited autonomy. Scholarships make higher education accessible, while transparency is ensured through a dedicated bank account.

The Practice:

Students express financial need during admission counseling. Approved applications are funded by donations from faculty and staff. Regular attendance and participation in extracurriculars are encouraged, with students motivated to give back post-graduation.

Evidence of Success:

In 2020-21, ₹48,330 was disbursed; in 2021-22, ₹54,440. This practice has inspired other students and promoted higher education among financially unstable girls.

Challenges:

Genuinely identifying deserving students remains a challenge.

2. Knowledge Enrichment Programs

Objective:

Knowledge enrichment programs enhance students' academic and personal growth, promoting skills like communication, leadership, and teamwork. These activities include sports, clubs, and volunteering, preparing students for future careers.

Practice:

The college organizes activities under various categories: Diabetes Club, Eco Club, Theatre, Music, Sports, NSS, and NCC. Events include debates, poster competitions, tree plantations, and workshops on professional skills.

Evidence

of Success:

Students excel in competitions, Youth Festivals, and Khel Mahakumbh. Talks on AI ethics and gender equity enrich learning.

Challenges:

Low participation due to rural commute issues and societal pressures.
